Background to the Glen Road School

After it had become inescapably apparent that the Town of Wilmington must expect to construct the equivalent of a school each year for the next ten years, the Annual Town Meeting of March, 1958 voted the establishment of a permanent Building Committee consisting of five members appointed by the Town Manager and Board of Selectmen. The Town Meeting also provided for Advisory Members from the Board of Selectmen, the School Committee, the Finance Committee, the Planning Board, and the Town Manager and Superintendent of Schools.

In addition to the responsibility for planning and site selection for future school buildings, the Permanent Building Committee was instructed to proceed with the construction of an elementary school on town-owned land off Glen Road to consist of not more than twelve classrooms at a total cost not to exceed $400,000.

The Permanent Building Committee was cognizant of the desire of the Town Meeting to achieve an economical but good quality school that could be both adaptable to other sites within the Town and expansible if required by future needs. Therefore, the architect was instructed to explore economy through the efficient and imaginative allocation of space rather than by the use of low quality building materials.

The unique design developed by the architects has ingeniously resolved the traditional conflict between economy and quality. The school is comparable in useable educational space, auxiliary facilities, building materials and finish to far more expensive schools constructed elsewhere in the Commonwealth. It is in fact, one of the least expensive elementary schools erected in Massachusetts in the last decade.

The Permanent Building Committee received invaluable assistance in the completion of its assignment from the advice and guidance of the Board of Selectmen, School Committee, Finance Committee, Planning Board, Town Manager and Superintendent of Schools. In particular, the site improvements and playground area were developed at minimum cost through the fine cooperation and supervision of the Superintendent of Streets, James H. White.
